Swopblock Investors,

Welcome to our Q1 2026 Use-of-Funds update. We've been heads-down building our MVP App UI, and after a couple of delays we're aiming to walk you through it on June 10th. Powered by .NET MAUI 10, one shared codebase delivers native performance across iOS, macOS, Windows, and Android... instantly. One build. Four major platforms. Maximum reach, minimal duplication. With this foundation locked in, the runway is built... let's get into the details.

Our 2026 Vision Recap

Your downloadable demo of our app is incoming!

We're on track to release a downloadable demo of our app in 2026, hitting both the Apple App Store and Google Play Store.

This isn't just software—it's the gateway to our full ecosystem, demonstrating our protocol's potential in the area of crypto exchange.

Swopblock's monetary protocol is dawning.

2026 marks a pivotal year for our protocol: With our patent filed and protocol design finalized, we're laser-focused on completing development, the final push toward launch.

This milestone isn't just thrilling; it positions us to ignite widespread excitement, drawing in not only crypto investors but also the open-source developer community.

We're securing your stake in Swopblock's innovation.

Our recent patent issuance has not qualified for expedited review, “Track 1” [37 CFR § 1.102(e)], this means approval is not expected in 2026 as previously projected.

Securing our IP will safeguard our innovation while unlocking full transparency for open-source collaboration and investor confidence.

Incoming regulations will be rocket fuel for SWOBL.

The Clarity Act's passage through the House sets the stage for Senate review and a potential vote sometime this year.

Once enacted, it'll pave the way for our official ICO, attracting crypto enthusiasts and establishing SWOBL's formal launch and market price.

We're actively converting your support into solid milestones. We're beyond excited to reveal the Swopblock app this year and get it live on the Apple App Store and Google Play Store for an Investors preview! Thanks for taking this journey with us.
